Here's how Singlife Steadypay Saver works

Jen, aged 28, is a newlywed. She wants to build a rainy-day fund for emergencies while staying on top of her household expenses, which will grow once she and her husband have children. She buys Singlife Steadypay Saver with a sum assured of S$25,000, paying a monthly premium of S$261.05 over a 15-year policy term. Here's how the plan can help her achieve her savings goal while continuing to have cash for little treats along the way:

The maturity benefit and total benefits are based on the illustrated investment rate of return of 4.25% per annum.

At the illustrated investment rate of return of 3% per annum, the maturity benefit is S$30,506 (where the potential bonus is S$6,756) and the total benefits is S$46,756. As bonus rates are not guaranteed, the actual benefits will vary according to the future performance of the participating fund.

As buying a life insurance policy is a long-term commitment, an early termination of the policy usually involves high costs and the surrender value, if any, that is payable to you may be zero or less than the total premiums paid. Before replacing an existing personal accident policy with a new one, you should consider whether the switch is detrimental as there may be potential disadvantages with switching. A penalty may be imposed for early termination and the new policy may cost more or have fewer benefits at the same costs. This is not a contract of insurance. Full details of the standard terms and conditions of this policy can be found in the relevant policy contract. Information is accurate as at August 2022. COMP/2022/08/MKT/704.
